

QUESTION 40 OF 52: NOT ANSWERED

Stanton contends that the situation she describes in the passage has become so dire that even men have begun to

-
- A lament the problems they have created.

Stanton argues that man "mourns," or regrets, how his power has caused "falsehood, selfishness, and violence" to become the "law" of society. Stanton is arguing that men are lamenting, or expressing regret about, how their governance has created problems.

-
- B join the call for woman suffrage.

Stanton does not suggest that men are advocating for women's right to vote.

-
- C consider women their social equals.

Stanton does not suggest that men are advocating for female equality.

-
- D ask women how to improve civic life.

Stanton does not suggest that men are requesting women's opinions about improving civic life.
