

QUESTION 16 OF 52: NOT ANSWERED

As used in line 51, “clashes” most nearly means

A conflicts.

The author states that “Many moral dilemmas arise when these three versions pull in different directions but clashes are not inevitable.” In this context, the three different perspectives on ethical economics may “clash,” or conflict, with one another.

B mismatches.

In this context “clashes” does not mean mismatches.

C collisions.

In this context “clashes” does not mean collisions.

D brawls.

In this context “clashes” does not mean brawls.
