

QUESTION 34 OF 52: NOT ANSWERED

Stanton uses the phrase "high carnival" (line 13) mainly to emphasize what she sees as the

A utter domination of women by men.

Stanton argues that women are repressed in society because men hold "high carnival," or have all the power, and make the rules in "the church, the state, and the home." Stanton claims that men have total control over women, "overpowering the feminine element everywhere."

B freewheeling spirit of the age.

Stanton does not use the term "high carnival" to emphasize that the time period is freewheeling, or unrestricted.

C scandalous decline in moral values.

Stanton does not use the term "high carnival" to emphasize that there has been a scandalous decline in moral values.

D growing power of women in society

Stanton does not use the term "high carnival" to emphasize that the power of women is growing.
