QUESTION 5 OF 52: NOT ANSWERED

The passage indicates that Edward Crimsworth's behavior was mainly caused by his impatience with the narrator's high spirits.

The narrator is not described as exhibiting "high spirits" but "Caution, Tact, [and] Observation."

(B)

scorn of the narrator's humble background.

The narrator's "humble background" is not discussed.

indignation at the narrator's rash actions.

The narrator is not described as exhibiting "rash actions" but "Caution, Tact, [and] Observation."

jealousy of the narrator's apparent superiority.

The narrator states that Crimsworth dislikes him because the narrator may "one day make a successful tradesman." Crimsworth recognizes that the narrator is not "inferior to him" but rather more intelligent, someone who keeps "the padlock of silence on mental wealth which [Crimsworth] was no sharer." Crimsworth feels inferior to the narrator and is jealous of the narrator's intellectual and professional abilities.
